T&T Supermarket launches 30-day fundraising drive with matching donations for Richmond Hospital Foundation

T&T to match in-store donations at its three Richmond locations dollar-for-dollar to help improve medical imaging at Richmond Hospital

Richmond, B.C. T&T Supermarkets today launched a fundraising drive, its largest ever, with matching donations made in-store at its three Richmond locations dollar-for-dollar.

"We are excited that T&T Supermarkets is taking a leadership role to help improve local health care in Richmond," said Natalie Meixner, President and CEO, Richmond Hospital Foundation. "They have deep roots in our community and are well-known and well-loved for their fresh produce and the wide variety of grocery items they offer. We are grateful to T&T for their commitment to Richmond and the inspiration they provide for others."

Beginning today until October 28, customers can visit the three Richmond locations, including the brand new Lansdowne Road location, the largest T&T Supermarkets location in Canada, and make a donation at the cashier. T&T Supermarket will match in-store donations made at its three Richmond locations dollar-for-dollar up to $70,000. Donations will support the purchase of urgently needed, new state-of-the-art medical imaging for Richmond Hospital to help improve local health care.
